

Universidad de los Andes
Faculty of Social Sciences
Department of Psychology

Faculty Positions Announcement - 2009

The Department of Psychology of Universidad de los Andes (Bogotá, Colombia) is seeking three full-time professors with expertise in basic psychological processes (memory, thinking, learning, perception), clinical psychology, and social or organizational psychology.

Responsibilities

Candidates will be expected to develop research or intervention programs in their areas of expertise, obtain external research funding, teach in general areas of psychology for undergraduate levels and in their scientific or professional areas of expertise for graduate levels, and actively participate in the activities of the Department. More information about the Department of Psychology and the Universidad de los Andes can be found at <http://psicologia.uniandes.edu.co/>

Minimum Qualifications

Candidates should have a doctoral degree in psychology or relevant areas. Candidates who are close to complete their doctoral studies will be considered, with the understanding that they will complete their studies in a timely manner. In such cases, the University may provide partial funding for the completion of their doctoral studies. Evidence of publications in scientific journals and participation in research projects is necessary. Teaching experience is desirable but not necessary.

Position

The Department is hiring candidates in the category of Assistant or Associate Professor. Salary and category will be commensurate with qualifications. Universidad de los Andes offers highly competitive salaries and benefits in the national context. Universidad de los Andes is ranked first in Colombia among the best 700 universities in the world according to the Scimago/Scopus ranking, and is among the 500 best universities in the world according to the Times Higher Education ranking.

(For more information, please contact the Direction of the Department). Starting date: January 2010 (negotiable).
